

Corvus Airlines Aircraft Maintenance Technician – Anchorage, Alaska.

Full time, benefit eligible position...Wage DOE.

- Growth orientated CFR part 121 regional airline with Dash 8 - 100 series and Beechcraft 1900D aircraft seeking motivated Airframe & Powerplant certificated technicians with Dash 8-100/200/300/400 or Beech 1900 experience. Come join our quality minded team. Your integrity and professional attitudes combined with your ability to adapt to change make a difference here.
- Looking for skilled technicians who have great work ethic and who appreciate being able to do the job right. The Aircraft Maintenance department has high standards and appreciates technicians that can set goals that are compatible with those of Corvus Airlines.
- Be able to work any shift as needed. Able to work under close time constraints - and as such, displays strong potential for advancement.
- Corvus technicians perform all types of aircraft maintenance – from preventative maintenance to complicated sheet metal repairs and engine troubleshooting, consequentially need good communication skills – reading/writing (in English), fluent with computer usage - able to use Microsoft Word/Outlook, follow instructions/directions.
- Must have tools necessary to meet Corvus Airlines Line Maintenance Tool List. Tool control at Corvus Airlines requires tool boxes be shadowed – allowance is made for new A&P technicians.
- Possess a valid driver's license; provide a current driving record from DMV – no DUI's with-in the last 5 years. Be able to drive tugs towing aircraft and ability to learn to run and taxi aircraft – on Anchorage International Airport.
- Aircraft return to Anchorage base and into Ravn Alaska Hanger daily, with some line maintenance performed outdoors.
- Bending, twisting, stooping and standing on ladders involved.
- Have sufficient hand and wrist dexterity and strength. Lift 75 lbs repeatedly.
- Applicants must successfully complete a background check, FBI fingerprint check, and a drug screening.

Benefits:

- Medical and Dental Insurance
- Life and disability Insurance
- 401 K Retirement plan
- Interline travel agreements

Position Details see employment page on Ravn website

<http://www.flyravn.com/about/employment>

Life up here outside of work!

In these turbulent financial times, it's good to know that there's a place where the rest of the country's economy doesn't have quite the same impact on Alaska's economy. In fact, it's often counter-cyclical, due to the strong energy economy here. So come north and look forward to a stable housing market, ample opportunity.

Anchorage is one of America's most livable cities, it's on the ocean so myths concerning the cold are highly over rated, imagine Chicago then realize that Anchorage weather is mild in comparison. The city offers a mild climate with beautiful summers and snowy winters.

As the center of the State's business activity, it is an economically vibrant city but also boasts plenty of opportunity for outdoor recreation. Anchorage is home to an award-winning trail system and 120 municipal parks. Within city limits you can enjoy hiking, camping, fishing, golfing, biking, kayaking, archery, downhill and Nordic skiing, and much more.

Anchorage offers all the perks and trappings of any major, cosmopolitan city, including several fine schools, a vibrant arts community, and a culturally and ethnically diverse population.

Anchorage has lower taxes than any other major city in the country. What more could you ask for?

Municipality of Anchorage Newcomer's Guide:

<http://www.muni.org/homepage/newtoanc.cfm>

Anchorage Convention and Visitors Bureau:

http://www.anchorage.net/?utm_source=national-print&utm_medium=print&utm_campaign=general-fit

Alaska Dispatch News: (Anchorage's only daily newspaper)

<http://www.adn.com>

Everything you need to know about moving to Alaska:

<http://www.alaska.net/>

Submit current and complete Employment Application and resume to Ravn Alaska, 4700 Old International Airport Road, Anchorage, AK 99502, or fax (907)266-8401; or email to applications@flyravn.com. <http://www.flyravn.com/about/employment> Ravn Alaska is an Equal Opportunity Employer.