PenAir Saab 2000s to begin Fairbanks service

Travelers between Anchorage and Fairbanks will have additional flight options starting July 1, as RavnAirGroup has announced that PenAir’s Saab 2000 aircraft will begin servicing the route.

Between RavnAir and PenAir, the two airlines will offer between one and three flights daily. PenAir’s first flight will arrive in Fairbanks at 6:50 am on Monday, July 1. To introduce PenAir’s service into Fairbanks, special fares of $79* each way will be offered on the Saab 2000 aircraft.

PenAir was purchased by RavnAir in December 2018, bringing the airline under the umbrella of Alaska’s largest regional airline. The RavnAir Group serves more than 115 destinations statewide.

“Our goal is to provide our customers with options in their travels,” said Dave Pflieger, CEO of RavnAir Group. “Now, our passengers have the choice of flying PenAir or Ravn, and can choose from their choice of the DeHavilland Dash–8 aircraft or the Saab 2000 between Fairbanks and Anchorage.”

Passengers will earn Ravn FlyAway Rewards points on either airline when flying between Fairbanks and Anchorage. To sign up for the program, visit flyravn.com.

The Fairbanks Chamber of Commerce will host a ribbon cutting at the airport when PenAir’s inaugural flight arrives. The ribbon cutting will begin at 7 am. Members of the community are invited to come out and greet the first flight.
ANCHORAGE (ANC) and FAIRBANKS (FAI) from $79* one-way

*Fare Rules: Purchase by 11:59 pm (AKDT) on July 31, 2019. Travel valid daily on flight 2080 (Anchorage to Fairbanks) or 2081 (Fairbanks to Anchorage) from July 1, 2019 through July 31st, 2019.

Seats are limited and may not be available on all flights or all days. Fares are non-refundable and only available on flights marketed by Ravn for travel on Ravn Alaska, Ravn Connect or PenAir.
